6.04.120 – Impoundment day

"Impoundment day" means any calendar day or part thereof on which an animal is in possession of the animal control center; provided, however, that should the final day of the elsewhere described holding period be a Sunday, legal holiday or day of emergency on which the animal control center is totally closed to the public, such final day shall not be counted as a day of impoundment nor be billed as a board day to owners redeeming impounded animals, the day immediately following thus being the last day of the holding period.
